HARRIS IS NAMED ON NEW SENATE COMMITTEE

Washington, Jan. 7.—A new field of activity in behalf of Southern development has been opened to Senator William J. Harris, of Georgia, through his appointment by the vice-president to be a member of the National Forest Reservation Commission.

Senator Overman, of North Carolina, long a warm friend and admirer of Senator Harris urged that the commission and in compliance with his wishes Vice-President Dawes appointed Senator Harris to the commission on Senator Overman's resignation. The other members of the commission are Senator Keyes of New Hampshire, the Secretary of War, Secretary of Agriculture and Secretary of Interior.

Senator Harris has co-operated with the Georgia Forestry Service throughout his ten years' service in the senate and regards membership on the National Forest Reservation Commission as an opportunity to be in still closer touch with forestry problems and development of peculiar interest to Georgia and the South.

"I am in favor of the government finishing its reforestation program in the White, Allegheny and Blue Ridge mountains as soon as possible," Senator Harris said in discussing his policies. "Especially do I hope that the foothills of these mountain chains, in Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia, can be given early attention. Finishing these programs already begun seems to me to be far more desirable than for the government to buy small tracts all over the country as has been done. However, I shall urge the commission to purchase large tracts of cut over pine lands in middle and South Georgia so as to restore the long leaf yellow pine to our section."

GET MOST ASSISTANCE FROM LOCAL DEALERS

RANK HIGHER THAN COUNTY AGENTS, FARM PAPERS AND COLLEGES.

Farmers rely more on the local dealer in selecting grades of fertilizer than on the county agricultural agent, the farm paper and the agricultural college combined.

This information is revealed in the summary of replies of 48,094 farmers in 34 states given to representatives of the National Fertilizer Association, Washington, D. C., which has just made public its findings on this point.

Farmers were personally interviewed during the past summer in all states east of the Mississippi River, and in Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The question which indicates the strong reliance of the farmer upon the local dealer, and which was one of 26 major questions and numerous sub-questions asked each farmer, was uniformly presented in the following language:

"In selecting the grades of fertilizer that you use, which of the following has helped you most: Your dealer, your county agent, your farm paper or your agricultural college?"

The summary of the 48,094 replies in 34 states follows: Dealer, 65.4 per cent; farm paper, 11.9; county agent, 12.7 and agricultural college, 7.1.

The summary of replies of 4,782 farmers who were interviewed in Georgia shows the following: Dealer, 79.2 per cent; county agent, 8 per cent; farm paper, 9.7 per cent, and agricultural college 3.1 per cent.

In announcing these results, the association points out that it is well to remember that the county agent, the farm paper and the agricultural college exert widespread influences that are not recognized by the farmer when they reach him. These agencies may influence his neighbors, whose practices may be noticed by him or they may influence the dealer.

In fact, much of the information that the farmer receives comes from the manufacturer who the dealer represents. The manufacturer relies largely on the state experiment station and agricultural college for authoritative advice in preparing complete fertilizer. However, the dealer undoubtedly exercises a strong influence on the farmer, states the association.

CEMENT MILLS OPERATE YEAR WITHOUT MISHAP

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 8.—Accident prevention work in cement mills has recently reached a startling degree of effectiveness, according to the Portland Cement Association, in an announcement here today that 18 mills owned by 12 different companies operated in the United States and Canada throughout 1928 without a single lost time accident. Each of these plants will receive the association sculptured concrete trophy awarded annually to cement mills awarded the entire calendar year free from mishap.

In 1927 ten plants won trophies, or more than twice as many as had accomplished the feat since accident records of the industry had been kept. The 1928 trophy winners number more than the total of all previous winners.

Of the 150 competing mills there have received the trophy for two consecutive years, a remarkable record in accident prevention, the announcement points out. They are located at Ironton, Ohio; Cowell, California, and Iola, Kansas; Bellefonte and Quincy, Michigan; Ironton and Painesville, Ohio; Manheim, West Virginia; Exshaw, Alberta; Mildred and Iola, Kansas; Cowell, California; Bath, Ormond, Sandusky and Fogelsville, Pennsylvania; Cape Girardeau, Missouri; Oswego, Oregon; Kingsport, Tennessee; Dallas, Texas; and Norfolk, Virginia.

FEDERAL LEGISLATION TO CONTROL BUSES

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 9.—Federal legislation of buses is not far off, it was indicated here today in transportation circles. The interstate commerce commission is said to have definitely and clearly endorsed such legislation. Furthermore, the organized representatives of motor passenger carriers, and the representatives of competing rail carriers, both steam and electric, also are said to approve such legislation. Such opposition as makes itself heard is said to come mainly from those who have interests in the direction of the greatest possible production and sale of motor vehicles.

There is said to be some opposition from among those operators engaged in freight carriage, who believe that if regulation shall now be provided by law for passenger carriers it will shortly be extended to them.

There are, also, it was pointed out, a few independent carriers who, for reasons not quite clear, wish to differ from those who are organized. Under these circumstances the enactment of federal legislation providing at least for the regulation of interstate passenger motor carriers seems probable in the not distant future, it was pointed out here.

The epidemic now having about subsided, it is expected that the occasion next Friday will be well attended.

CHEVROLET PRODUCTION SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 8.—With thousands of the new Chevrolet sales being placed in the hands of owners, Chevrolet Motor Company announced officially here yesterday that production for the first ten and a half months of 1928 equaled 1,500,000 units. This figure, it was said, represented an increase of 180,000 units over 1927, the best previous year.

Month after month of last year found Chevrolet shattering all former production marks. Its all time record for monthly output occurred in May, when 140,775 units were produced. May stood out in the Chevrolet calendar also because it included the greatest single day's output in the company's 16 years of history. Seven thousand and seven cars and trucks, completely finished, rolled off Chevrolet assembly lines May 28.

Coincident with the announcement of 1928 production figures, Chevrolet officials at the New York Automobile Show last week, were viewing with interest the continued enthusiasm that the growth bestowed on the new sixes. Several ranking officials reiterated the statement made a few weeks ago by W. S. Knudsen, president, that 1929 production would equal at least 1,250,000 units. One of the salient tributes paid Chevrolet by visiting automobile men at the show involved the company's remarkable evolution from four cylinder to six cylinder production in the short space of a few weeks. Today all nine of Chevrolet's assembly plants are rapidly adjusting themselves to take care of peak schedules.

For the fourth time in as many years the sales department of Chevrolet at this time is sponsoring its annual series of nationwide sales meetings. The first of the series, which will be extended to include 35 cities, opened yesterday in New York. Three crews, each composed of five men, all factory executives, will conduct the meetings. It is the purpose of the meetings to increase the Chevrolet dealer organization numbering over 10,000 dealers, to hear from the lips of the company's sales heads the complete 1929 sales program.

Thirteen other rural lines have been authorized by the company and some of these are under construction. All of these are expected to be in operation by April 1. They include: Gough-Vidette, Reidsville, Pulaski, Panthersville, Nisky Lake, Sandy Springs-Dunwoody, Lovejoy-Hastings Farm; Lawrence Road, Martin, Williams, Crapapple, Riverview Dairy, Macon and Tucker. Completion of these will bring the total to 102,10 miles of rural liner, serving 897 customers.

Contracts have already been signed on nine other rural lines and the total mileage by the end of 1929 is expected to be between 275 and 300 miles, serving between 2,500 and 3,000 customers.

The company has extended service to 66 cities and towns in the state since 1927 and has opened retail stores in fifteen other cities.

Among other important events were the acquisition of the Macon utilities companies and the Augusta, Aiken Railway and Electric corporation and its subsidiaries.

Mitchell Banks of London characterized the institute of brewing as holy and sacred because it was making the "best way to use God's gifts" and "hops and water."

GEORGIA NORMAL OPENS WITH REGULAR ATTENDANCE

Georgia Normal College opened Tuesday morning with almost a full enrollment. Not a single member of the teaching force was absent, and only fourteen of the students failed to report for classes, out of an enrollment of three hundred.

Every precaution, it is hoped, will be taken to prevent any interruption of the work at the school, and business is assuming its regular stride there.

CITY COURT CANCELLED BECAUSE OF SICKNESS

Because of the large amount of sickness throughout the county, city court has been called off for next Monday. In making the decision, Judge Proctor was guided largely by the advice of the physicians of the community as well as by the members of the local bar. There are fewer matters, he said, which are sufficiently urgent to make a session of the court necessary.

STATSBORO MAN CUT IN FRAY AT CORDELE

W. G. RAINES CLASHES IN HAND-TO-HAND CONFLICT WITH BROTHER-IN-LAW.

W. G. Raines, prominent business man of Statesboro, is confined to a hospital in Cordele as a result of knife wounds received last Thursday afternoon in a knife battle with his brother-in-law, Dr. Williams, at that place.

Latest information from his bedside is that his condition is satisfactory and that he will probably be able to leave the hospital within a few days.

The injuries received by Mr. Raines consists of a serious cut in the back, extending to the hollow, and less serious slashes about the face and head.

No definite particulars are at hand as to the cause of the row. It is stated, however, that the disagreement arose over the management of an estate left by W. G. Raines' father, who died several months ago.

Dr. Williams' wife is a sister of Mr. Raines and is an heir to the estate. Williams is understood to have been cut also in the fracas, though his injuries are slight.

BLITCH AGAIN NAMED STATESBORO POSTMASTER

Announcement was made in the Sunday papers of the re-appointment of W. H. Blitch as postmaster of Statesboro for another four-year term. Mr. Blitch completed on December 31st his first term of four years. Before that, however, he served eighteen months as acting postmaster, which brings his entire term of service at present to five and a half years. His re-appointment will be gratifying to his friends.

RURAL ELECTRICITY FURNISHED TO MANY

After years of planning and extensive education the Georgia Power Company on July 2, 1928, got under way its rural electrification program when Harrison rural line, with 46 customers, was cut in.

During the remainder of the year other rural lines, most of them serving rural communities, rural factories and some farms, were cut in at the rate of about two a month. At the end of the year the company had 37,500 miles of rural lines serving 382 customers in actual operation.

These lines, eleven in all, are in widely separated sections of Georgia. In the order of their installation they are as follows: Harrison, Belville-Manassas, Bloomfield Road, Macon; Columbus road, Macon; Maconville, Fairmount, Summerville Road, Rome; Indian Springs-Flordia, East McDonough Road, Atlanta; Lee's Mill Road, Atlanta; and Lafayette-Dalton Road.

ATLANTA'S CITY MARKET REPORTS BIG BUSINESS

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 8.—Telling how the city can help the farmer, J. Frank Beck, president of the Atlanta Municipal Market, today announced that the volume of business here in one year amounted to more than one million dollars.

"The Atlanta Municipal Market is unique in that it is the only essentially farmer's market, conducted in a handsome and adequate building in this country," said Mr. Beck. "It is eminently successful, furthermore, in carrying out its object of providing the facilities to the farmers in the surrounding country for a distance of fifty miles around Atlanta, to sell their product direct to the city housekeeper."

Stating that the building represents an investment of $200,000, secured by loan, which is being retired, Mr. Beck shows that the main portion of the structure, covering a whole block on Edgewood avenue and Butler street, is occupied by 174 farmers' stalls, paying a nominal rental, and carrying an assortment of vegetables, fruits, butter, eggs, poultry and meats, as well as products of the farmers' wives, such as home made jellies and preserves, honey, cakes and flowers.

"The activity of the whole family is often represented on a farmer's stall of home raised products," said Mr. Beck.

Mr. Beck said that a market similar to that in Atlanta should have the consideration of every city, town and community in the state, either by a seasonal curb market or the open, or by a permanent building that will furnish the service in the interest of the country and city alike. Under this plan, the farmer and customer meet directly without a middleman and his necessary profits.

WHITE HOME BURNS IN MID-AFTERNOON FLAMES

The home of Brooks White, on Parrish street next to the Central railroad, was totally destroyed by flames which occurred in the absence of the family last Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Practically all the contents of the home also went up in the flames.

Firemen answered the call, but found the flames too far advanced to save the building. The White family had left for a visit to his parents near Clito shortly after dinner and had been out of the house about an hour when neighbors observed smoke issuing from the roof.

Insurance to the amount of $2,000 was carried on the home and contents. Mr. White will rebuild as soon as plans to do so can be perfected.

CONVICT IS KILLED BY FALLING OF TREES

Abraham Williams, a colored convict from the state prison, was killed by the falling of a tree while at work early Tuesday morning two miles northwest of the city.

Williams himself was engaged with other convicts in felling trees for the sawroad. Several trees were in process of being felled. A large pine fell against a smaller tree that was almost ready to fall and knocked it in Williams' direction. Before he could move out of the way, the tree struck him and threw him against a log, crushing his head. He was picked up immediately and brought to the negro sanitarium in Statesboro, but died shortly after reaching there. A coroner's jury returned a verdict in accordance with the foregoing facts. The body of the negro was shipped Tuesday afternoon to his former home at Greenville.

Williams was a state prisoner and was brought to Bulloch county in October, 1927, in company with another prisoner. It is a rather strange circumstance that the other negro was killed several months ago by a guard at the camp when he led an insurrection among the prisoners and attempted to brain Warden Brannan with an axe handle.

Under authority of the power of sale contained in that certain security deed given to me by Harry Moore on July 15th, 1920, recorded in book 63, page 88, in the office of the clerk of Bulloch superior court, I will, on the first Tuesday in February, 1929, within the legal hours of sale, before the court house door in Statesboro, Bulloch county, Georgia, sell at public outcry to the highest bidder, for cash, the following described property, as the property of the said Harry Moore, or his grantee, M. J. Chandler, to-wit:

That certain tract or lot of land lying and being in the 1209th district, Bulloch county, Georgia, containing twenty-two and one-half acres, more or less, bounded at the date of said deed on the north and west by lands of J. SORE
Could Not Rest

Mrs. J. H. Nichols, who lives at 613 Elm Tree Lane, Lexington, Ky., says:

"Some few years ago, my health was bad. I had very severe pains in my sides. My nerves were in a terrible condition. I could not rest."

"The lower part of my body was very sore. I did not feel like eating, and did not sleep well at all at nights."

"A friend of mine recommended Cardui. I began taking it and saw quite an improvement in my condition. I kept it up until I felt strong and well."

"About a year ago, Mrs. Nichols says, she found herself in a nervous, run-down condition. 'I took Cardui again,' she adds, 'and it helped me wonderfully. It is a splendid tonic.'"

"Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic, made from purely vegetable ingredients. At all druggists."

It should be of interest to our citizens to know that the school census of Bulloch county shows more boys than girls of the school ages between 6 and 18 years. An unusual situation is revealed in the 7th and 8th grades of the Warnock high school. The 7th grade of that school has 28 boys and 13 girls; the 8th grade has 12 boys and only 1 girl. Some day we should have relatively as many in the high school department as in the grades. At present 25% of the total school enrollment is in the first grade. One half of the total state enrollment never completes the 4th grade. Let us put Bulloch ahead of the state average and keep on improving.

The vast territory embraced in Bulloch county necessitates a difficulty to serve every section with a school or school bus. In spite of every effort to serve all, there are many sections so isolated that they can neither be served with a truck route or school. In such cases, we can only allow irregular transportation. Possibly fewer than half hundred children are in these sections not now in contact with a school or truck. Time will enable us to serve all in a more efficient and satisfactory way.

Those school districts that operate good schools are they that have modern school houses with modern equipment and good corps of teachers. How any community not having these essential advantages for their children can be satisfied, is hard to comprehend. How can you justify your inaction in this essential duty toward your children? Certainly you wish to have good advantages for the children you must keep in school year after year for about twelve years of their lives. Think of the cost in time lost and cash spent. The clothing to buy, the books for their needs and the cost of home maintenance are none less when the children are sent to the poorest of schools. Why not do as the progressive districts have done—create for your own a good school?

We are now all blue and despondent over the future outlook. This severe flu epidemic and the financial conditions generally have a tendency to make the most optimistic take notice. But possibly soon conditions will be better and the year may bring for us a bountiful harvest and health with needed prosperity. Let us hope for the best and not falter as we struggle along over the hard way. We can't carry on if we give up. Let us keep up the fight to the finish and we will be successful. It can be done.

Those schools that have not oiled the floors should do so before teaching any further. We find it to be good advantage to put a small amount of motor oil in with the regular floor oil. It goes further and lasts longer. Bring in your cans and secure an order for the oil needed to cover well the floors of your school. You can't keep down dust and germs without using oil plentifully.

MILLS WINS PRIZE FOR BEST PROHIBITION PLAN

FORMER FEDERAL DRY ADMINISTRATOR WINS DURANT'S TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND.

Major Chester P. Mills, of New York, former federal prohibition administrator for the New York district, was announced as winner of the $25,000 prize offered by W. C. Durant for "the best and most practical plan for making the eighteenth amendment effective."

The Volstead act, Major Mills said, was well conceived, and "its provisions are capable of enforcement with few if any legislative changes."

His plan for making the act effective he divided into four parts: 1. Permissive: Closer scrutiny of those to whom permits to manufacture alcohol are granted and closer government supervision of its making; issuance of only temporary permits, of not longer than six months duration; make each local administrator responsible for the issuance of the permits.

2. Enforcement, (a) imports; (b) domestic supply; for smuggling only increasing vigilance is needed; for domestic enforcement strike at source; manufacture in private stills and illegal diversion under permits.

3. Political: Take the enforcement agencies out of politics. Political interference is one of the serious handicaps to effective control, he said.

4. Detailed method of controlling diversion of industrial alcohol. Strict supervision of distilleries which manufacture their own alcohol; abolition by legislation of the independent denaturing plant, which Major Mills said "has no economic place in (legitimate) business; adopt legislation, if the courts will not sustain such procedure, requiring manufacturers who use industrial alcohol to show such disposition as will allow the government to trace the alcohol to a legitimate dealer."

While returning to Florida, after spending the holidays with their mother, Mrs. R. P. Dickerson, near Statesboro, L. A. Wise and family and W. F. Wise and two children, happened to a serious accident in Camden county, Ga., twenty-two miles below Brunswick.

They ran into a parked truck of furniture on the highway which a constable had stopped without lights. A pair of springs on the truck jammed a hole through the windshield of the Wise car, shattering glass and cutting both children of F. D. Wise badly.

The party alighted from the car and were trying to push it out from the truck in order to rush the children to a physician as they were bleeding freely, when another car was heard coming. Some members of the party ran up the road waving for it to stop, but to no avail. It hit the Wise car while making fifty-five miles per hour. It was driven by L. J. Hicks of Savannah.

Mrs. Wise was standing beside their car in the road. She was knocked several feet. Her little three-year-old son was thrown out of her arms; both bones in her left leg were broken, crushed her ankle and bruised her considerably otherwise. L. A. Wise suffered a sprained ankle. A passing motorist picked them up and they were carried to Brunswick hospital, where an operation proved necessary for Mrs. Wise.

Lonnie Wise, son of W. F. Wise, had six stitches taken in his face and he lost one tooth.

WEATHER SUPERSTITIONS APPEAL TO IGNORANCE

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 14.—It is a curious fact that persons who scorn weather forecasting based on science show a truly pathetic faith in the "weather prophets" who have nothing except superstition and ignorance with which to make their pseudo meteorological readings, according to one of Atlanta's scientific weather forecasters.

"They chatter about goose bones, the thickness of muskrat houses, the inclination of the moon and other signs and portents," said this forecaster. "They look for the sun and the groundhog on 'groundhog day' and by the weather on St. Swin's Day they decide what it will be for the following forty days."

"That such myths and superstitions find believers even in this supposedly enlightened age and among supposedly educated people does not support the extravagant claims of the boosters of this civilization. There is still a great deal of superstition and belief in black magic in this age of reason."

"Unfortunately for the mental progress of the race, the weather guesses which go wrong are forgotten by the faithful, but those which by accident or coincidence 'come true' are held out as proof of the powers of the guesses and his mystic instruments for weather forecasting."

"Man can not control atmospheric conditions and neither can he predict them accurately with the aid of his scientific knowledge and instruments."

TAKES CASH REGISTER AND SWIPES PENNIES

Breaking open a side door at Pearson's restaurant on East Main street, a thief made way bodily with the cash register, sometime during Saturday night. The register was found Monday afternoon, hidden snugly under a warehouse near the Central depot, no harm having been done except twenty-odd pennies had been extracted from the drawer.

Entrance to the restaurant was gained by breaking in a door with a crowbar. The cash register stood near the door and was small enough to be carried away without difficulty. The drawer had been left open purposely to avoid the necessity for breaking open in the event of robbery, so the thief found it easy to complete his job. The register had probably been placed in hiding with the intention of removing it later. Nathan Downs, a colored man, espied it as he was walking along the railroad and reported it to Mr. Pearson.

Bill Allen is a son of the late Jack Allen. He was reared near Statesboro and is a member of the large family of that name in this community. His wife, the mother of the Stevens boys, was originally a Miss Stevens and has also a large family connection.

Young Stevens' interment was at Bethlehem church cemetery at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

WIFE DIES DURING THE FUNERAL OF HUSBAND

A very sad occurrence was the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Reddick of Sylvania, who occurred last week. Mr. Reddick was a very prominent farmer and business man of this section. He died Sunday morning, after a short illness of pneumonia. He was laid to rest Tuesday at Friendship Baptist church of which he has been an active member for several years. He is survived by two sons, Talmadge Reddick of Sylvania; Albert Reddick of Waycross; three daughters, Mrs. Walter Reddick, Mrs. Hugh Neely and Miss Lennie Reddick, all of Sylvania.

Mrs. Reddick died while the funeral services of Mr. Reddick were being held. She also died of pneumonia. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Emma Buford of Millhaven; four brothers, J. V. and W. E. Brunson of Register; J. W. and P. S. Brunson of Millhaven.

The fruit dealer mentioned above informed this writer that on a recent visit to Crescent City, Fla., which is a short distance below Jacksonville, he bought a truckload of grapefruit for $10.00. The load comprised 65 bushels of fruit. It was not what is known as choice, but they were good ones, small and bright. He brought the load to Statesboro and sold 5,000 of them at a price of 1 cent each. That left him $40 profit on his truckload for a two-days' trip. The dealers placed them on sale at six for 25 cents. They made some money, too.

But anyone, Georgia is glad Florida is so near to us—and that she is continuing to sell our fruit at prices below what we could grow for fruit if we owned the groves ourselves.

ELMO STEVENS DIES AS RESULT OF STABBING

STEPFATHER IN JAIL CHARGED WITH KILLING—ROW OVER USE OF AUTOMOBILE.

Elmo Stevens, aged 20 years, died Sunday afternoon as a result of knife wounds inflicted by his stepfather, Bill Allen, aged about 35, a week before.

Allen is in jail charged with the killing. He also bears knife wounds on the face and neck, inflicted by a brother of young Stevens at the time of the row. The affair occurred at the family home near Adabelle on Saturday afternoon, January 6th.

The statement is that the stepfather desired to use an automobile which was the property of the Stevens boy. Young Stevens objected, it is said, and gave as his reason the fact that Allen had previously broken the car when he used it and that it had cost the boy heavily to put it in repair.

The discussion ended in a knife battle, Stevens getting a deep cut in the back. Allen's wound is understood to be in the side.

FLORIDA ORANGES AT DOLLAR PER BASKET

GRAPEFRUIT SELLING HERE FROM TRUCKS AT 1 CENT APiece WHOLESALE.

Florida is just about as near to Georgia as there is any practical need of.

We Georgians are getting most of the advantages Florida has to offer the way of fruits and vegetables, and are escaping her road taxes. To be sure we are paying our own road taxes—and riding in the mud the while—but, anyway, there is something to be thankful for.

And we declare we are as near to Florida orange groves as we need to be when we look out the front door of our office and see truckloads of oranges selling at $1.00 per bushel basket. What better, we should like to know, can Georgians want?

And when we begin to discuss the situation with the men who drive the trucks, we find out still other things we didn't know. For instance, the man who is selling oranges at $1.00 per bushel tells us he had previous to that sold a truckload of grapefruit at 1 cent apiece to dealers in Statesboro. What matters it is those dealers retailed them out at six for 25 cents—want that cheaper than anybody had ever dreamed was possible in Statesboro? Well, say it was.

There are reasons for all this. Just what they are, we may not be able to state. One reason is that Florida has built paved roads all over the state which permits Georgians to drive right to groves and load up with fruit almost at their own price. Another reason is that some of the enterprising counties to the south of us, from Savannah to the Florida line, likewise have paved roads which bring us into close contact with the Florida markets. It is a matter of only a few hours in a truck from the Statesboro corner to the Florida producer, and the cost of transportation is practically nothing.

And still another reason, and the biggest one, is the fact that Florida growers have produced a monster crop of fruit this year and the markets throughout the nation are unable to assimilate the crop. Nothing need be said of the increasing railroad freight rates, but it is indisputable that increasing rates are having to do with the diversion of fruit by trucks from the Florida groves. It is not our business to tell the railroads how to run their business, but it is perfectly reasonable that the advancing of rates are driving freight to the trucks over the highways—and the consumer is getting the benefit of the lower costs of transportation.

The fruit dealer mentioned above informed this writer that on a recent visit to Crescent City, Fla., which is a short distance below Jacksonville, he bought a truckload of grapefruit for $10.00. STATESBORO BOY WINS RADIO SCOOTER CAR

Friends of young George Donaldson are rejoicing with him at his good fortune in winning a scooter car over the radio. If you see him riding it on the streets you will understand something of the thrill that was his when he became the owner.

The manner of his winning is rather interesting. Listening in over the radio on Monday evening of last week, he heard a contest being held in Atlantic City, N. J. At the close the announcer asked for letters from those who had been listening in, with a statement of their appreciation of the program. Two prizes were to be awarded, a fountain pen to the man and a scooter car to the boy whose name should be drawn from a box on the evening of the next Monday's concert. Everybody was invited to listen in for the announcement of the winner. George, now in school, wanted that scooter car. He insisted in writing a letter to the announcer. And then he insisted on waiting up on the next Monday evening to hear the announcement of the award. Can you imagine anything more thrilling than for him to hear his name called, and the words of the announcer: "George Donaldson, of Statesboro, Ga., your name has been drawn from among the many hundreds of boys and girls who write us. The scooter car will be sent you by parcels post in the morning." That meant the car was to be mailed in Atlantic City Tuesday morning. If it hasn't arrived, it will be here in a day or two.
